Title: An introduction to statistical research.

Abstract: I will introduce contemporary statistical research to students from three selected topics: sparse regression, change-point detection and Hi-C data analysis. I will illustrate backgrounds, statistical methods, theories, challenges and some open problems. I will also give a brief introduction of UA statistics group.